

How can we make aid and foreign investment work better for African countries?

Photo credits (clockwise from main): USAID; Hans Schoelink; R.Zurba/USAID; © 1995 Elizabeth Cerejski/ENERGIA, Courtesy of Photoshare

without foundations we cannot build

African countries need more income and jobs. This will need money spent in areas like electricity to provide energy for factories, water for industry and agriculture, and transport to get goods and people around the country. To make sure this improves the daily lives of all African communities, local people, particularly women and young people, must participate in decisions about what is needed most.

Growth & poverty reduction Growth & pover

Commission for Africa