

The Development Education Consortium

Who is involved in the programme?

What are the respective roles of the Development Education Consortium?

Who is involved in the programme?

The GLP is delivered by the Development Education Consortium which brings together a team of carefully-selected members with complementary experience. The Development Education Consortium comprises:

- Pearson
- Geographical Association (GA)
- Institute of Education (IoE)
- Oxfam
- Royal Geographical Society with IBG (RGS)
- SSAT (The Schools Network) Ltd
- Think Global.

What are the respective roles of the Development Education Consortium?

GLP component	Contributing partners
Lead partner and contractor with UK government; management of field-based team; marketing and communications	Pearson
GLP website	Think Global
GLP knowledge framework (linking the GLP to core subject areas)	Royal Geographical Society with Oxfam
Expert Centre accreditation	Geographical Association with Pearson
Accreditation for Lead Practitioners in schools	SSAT with Institute of Education
Direct funding to schools – e-credits for schools to access training and funding for Expert Centres	Think Global and Pearson
A core set of CPD for the Lead Practitioners in schools and the team of GLP Local Advisors	Institute of Education with SSAT
Co-development of CPD with external providers and ongoing support	Institute of Education, Think Global, Oxfam
GLP Whole School Audit – online tool for schools to establish baseline and plan CPD activities	Oxfam, IoE, Geographical Association
GLP Pupil Assessment Tool - online, self-marked test to assess pupils' knowledge	Institute of Education

Back to top